DISTRICT OF CHILLIWACK

Change of house numbers in the former City of Chilliwack effective January 1st, 1982

CROSS - INDEX

between old and new numbers

NOTES:

1. The Council has by by-law provided for a uniform system of house numbers throughout the District of Chilliwack, the system being based on the grid system already in use in other parts of the Fraser Valley. The effect of the by-law is to require a change of street addresses throughout the area of the former City of Chilliwack.
2. The purpose of this cross-index is to indicate the new numbers for identifying premises in the former City. The numbers are not intended to provide a reliable indication of the folio numbers used in the municipality's property records, because of the following differences:
  - (a) For a corner lot, it is possible to have a street entrance on either of two streets.
  - (b) A single lot may be the site of buildings with more than one entrance from the street, requiring more than one house number.
  - (c) All vacant lots have folio numbers, but they do not need to be identified by house numbers.
  - (d) Strata title lots (condominiums) have separate folio numbers but may have a common street address, with each unit identified by a suite number.
3. Yale Road has presented a special problem in assigning house numbers. The former Lower Mainland Regional Planning Board, which designed the grid system, decided that Yale Road should have house numbers in a continuous series along a west-east road, from the Vedder Canal to beyond Rosedale. However, because the segment of Yale Road between Cottonwood Corner and the former City has a south-north direction, it has been necessary to distort the numbers along Yale Road. This distortion has two effects:
  - (a) The numbers used along Yale Road may not match the grid system perfectly; that is, the numbers in a block along Yale Road may not correspond to the numbers along a parallel street.

Notes on cross-index between old and new house numbers (continued):

- (b) In some closely built up areas along Yale Road, all available numbers have been used - which means that there are no additional numbers reserved for future buildings. This is regrettable, but apparently unavoidable.
- 4. An asterisk (*) beside a number indicates that there are two or more suites or units at that address.
- 5. The municipality hopes that this cross-index is accurate and complete. However, if an error or omission should be found, please notify the Property Records Department at the Municipal Hall, 8550 Young Road South, Chilliwack (phone 792-9311).

September 29, 1981.
